Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

After so many people have been affected, I feel Equifax should be held to an accountability that matches its grave data breach. A few dollars will not fix the problems many have encountered because of this. The penalty must be more substantial.

They told us we would get $125, now it is less than $10. Millions of people have been impacted by this breach. They sold our private data, now they think they can get away with it by giving us less than $10. A message needs to be sent to these unethical companies that their behavior is unacceptable and they have to pay the consequences for their illegal actions. I don't want or need their alternative of credit monitoring. I already have it, and from a more trustworthy company.

In re: Equifax Inc. Customer Data Security Breach Litigation

Case No. 1:17-md-2800-TWT

Amy White

3129 Washington Rd Parlin NJ 08859

I have checked the settlement website and have confirmed I am a class member.

I object to this settlement, on the grounds its terms are:

- Unfair ☒ Unduly burdensome ☒
- Inadequate ☒
- Unreasonable ☐

I have objected to no class action settlements in the last five years.

I will not attend the settlement hearing in person.

I do not expect to be represented by an attorney.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

Please consider the little guys and not these big companies that get a slap on the wrist and we the people suffer. I want what is deserved to me. I get ripped off and scammed from these companies.

Thank you very much in advance

Amy White

In re: Equifax Inc. Customer Data Security Breach Litigation

Case No. 1:17-md-2800-TWT

Bradon Clark

4014 Bremen San Antonio TX 78210

I have checked the settlement website and have confirmed I am a class member.

I object to this settlement, on the grounds its terms are:

- Unfair ☒ Unduly burdensome ☒
- Inadequate ☒
- Unreasonable ☒

I have objected to no class action settlements in the last five years.

I am unable to attend the settlement hearing in person.

I do not expect to be represented by an attorney.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

Hello, I think it is unfair for companies to have personal information that is vital to purchasing a home a vehicle and many other things and its not protected. To offer an amount of money as low as they did shows that its business as usual and they do not care about what consumers go through when your identity can be stolen or is for sale on the dark web. I think they should have to be held accountable so this doesn't happen again.

I have checked the settlement website and have confirmed I am a class member.

I object to this settlement, on the grounds its terms are:

- Unfair ☒ Unduly burdensome ☐
- Inadequate ☒
- Unreasonable ☐

I have objected to no class action settlements in the last five years.

I will not attend the settlement hearing in person.

I do not expect to be represented by an attorney.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

Lawyers are getting rich from class action law suits while the real people who are being harmed from these data breaches, especially when our social security numbers were leaked, will have to worry about this for many years to come. Three years of credit monitoring isn't enough, and $10 for leaking our social security number is definitely not enough. This is not like when our credit card numbers are compromised. With that we can get a new credit card and a new credit card number, but we can't get another social security number.

Zedd Epstein

I have checked the settlement website and have confirmed I am a class member.

I object to this settlement, on the grounds its terms are:

- Unfair ☒ Unduly burdensome ☐
- Inadequate ☒
- Unreasonable ☒

I have objected to no class action settlements in the last five years.

I will not attend the settlement hearing in person.

I do not expect to be represented by an attorney.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

The entire premise of this settlement is flawed. Equifax sells access to this data, therefore, they should know exactly how much it is worth per person. I personally have no less than 6 agencies monitoring my credit, showing that the current method of letting companies provide credit monitoring instead of fixing their security isn't working. Also, having Equifax, who has already lost the data that they're collecting once, be punished by having to monitor the data that they're collecting is wearing a boot on your head crazy.

They are basically saying they will offer to monitor our credit (which doesn't cost them much of anything) and yet they are the ones who had the breach. It doesn't seem fair or equitable that they can offer their own services to provide something they should have been on top of in the first place. I do NOT trust their ability to provide a meaningful service. There is no real accountability for them.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

I have been a victim of identity theft multiple times and let me tell you what a nightmare it is and then to have it happen again where my personal information had been accessed in a data breach just makes it so much worse as I already know how hard it is to recover from identity theft and the impact it had had in my ability to find work or get a place to live it's a long lasting effect that I am still dealing with . This data breach is serious and should be treated as such , no slap on the wrist is going to give people the peace of mind and security that their personal information is safe in a digital world . It's a very long and hard road to recover from your personal data being used against you . Please hold Equifax to the highest level of punishment allowed by law so as to send a message to other companies that think it's not a big deal and that offering a few dollars will somehow make it

Credit companies can not self regulate. They must be held accountable. If they can not offer life changing meaningful compensation, then all debts should be forgiven and credit files wiped clean.

I truly believe that companies such as this need to be held more accountable for such breaches. The proposed slap on the hand will just be a blip on their income. To truly make them feel something, the settlement needs to cause them to think that they don't want to have it happen again. And just giving away credit monitoring is a sham as that costs them nothing.

Zach Thompson

1576 south elm Street Denver Colorado 80222

I have checked the settlement website and have confirmed I am a class member.

I object to this settlement, on the grounds its terms are:

- Unfair ☒ Unduly burdensome ☒
- Inadequate ☒
- Unreasonable ☒

I have objected to no class action settlements in the last five years.

I will not attend the settlement hearing in person.

I do not expect to be represented by an attorney.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

This breach is one of the largest in scale that I have seen. These companies keep getting away with selling or conviently losing our trusted and sensitive information. If these companies continue to just get a slap on the wrist what motivation do they have to keep our information safe? Thank you for your time and consideration in this important matter.

A $10 settlement is laughable for a company that is making millions to billions of dollars off of our personal data. We trusted them to keep our information secure, especially since they have so much of it, and we have virtually no control over them, and they did not. This caused all kinds of problems for people, some small, some serious. Thank you.

Honestly, the settlement SHOULD include free credit monitoring for ALL effected victims AND a nice check. If they don't have any financial hit from this, what incentive do any of the credit monitoring firms have to ensure their data security.

Thanks, Ann

The penalty being imposed on Equifax is just plain ludicrous. They can sell my private information without my consent, then because of lax security, can allow that same information to be stolen and inconvenience me OR WORSE, and the courts decide $5-$10 in damages is appropriate? Tell you what, I'll be happy to turn over my $5 in exchange for the private credit history of the judge that allows this. That sounds just, right? No, of course not. That's ridiculous. And yet, that's what the courts are showing to happen to each and everyone of the people that were affected by Equifax's greed and sloppiness. Please reconsider as this is the only way that crimes like this ever stands a chance of being prevented in the future!

Your Honor, When I was first told of this breach I was told they would be paying around $125 per person and/or providing credit monitoring. I was also told that I had to have my own credit monitoring in order to receive financial compensation. To now be told they may only have to pay around $10 per person is absurd. You cannot buy aspirin with pennies any more. I have already been notified on 2 of my email accounts of someone in Russia attempting to log in and I have no idea what more will happen as time goes by. Please do not allow this company a slap on the wrist - to do so is a slap in the face to all of us who have been effected.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

This settlement is a mere fraction of what was originally advertised. Even the original estimate of around $125 was inadequate considering the potential damage to one's credit, identity and way of life in general. This settlement, if allowed to stand, would be an insult to the victims. Please consider the damage some victims have suffered. Is it reasonable to think $10.00 or so is restitution to those who had to hire professionals to help repair the damage done? Is about $10 reasonable compensation to those who's credit was destroyed just before they went to settlement on a new house only to find the lender suddenly denied financing? I just so happen to be one of the lucky ones who avoided one of these nightmares so I'm not asking justice on my behalf. I'd gladly give up my share to a less fortunate victim. I'm asking for fair justice for those who suffered the most.

Rhonda Williams

1169 Station ave, Atwater CA 95301

I have checked the settlement website and have confirmed I am a class member.

I object to this settlement, on the grounds its terms are:

- Unfair ☒ Unduly burdensome ☒
- Inadequate ☒
- Unreasonable ☒

I have objected to no class action settlements in the last five years.

I am unable to attend the settlement hearing in person.

I do not expect to be represented by an attorney.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

This settlement is too low. It does not represent the action that was doene to me, the consumer.

It is totally unfair for Equifax to use my data without my consent, and for them to try and settle for less than $10.00 is just a slap in the face to me. A person's identity is priceless but according to bettercreditblog.org a persons identity can be sold on the dark web for 1,170.74. Now how is that even fair? I deserve to be compensated fairly. My objections are based upon the minuscule amount of punitive damages to a company of this size. They have the security of my personal records and have the fiduciary responsibility to keep those records safe. Please let them know they violated that trust and the only way for a company of this size to feel how serious a breach they allowed to happen is monetary. Punitive damages are the only way to get their attention.

Honorable Thomas W Thrash Jr-

I feel that having our personal information splashed all over the world is worth way more than the $125 we are supposed to get as compensation for this. Now I hear that we may only get $10??? This is totally inadequate for the safety of our personal information. Please reconsider the amount we, as Americans, deserve for this security breach. Today I just got news that my bank account was hacked. We need to build up our security and keep these hackers out of our business.

Thank you

Your Honor,

It is my belief, no doubt shared with other protesting Class Settlement members, that a company such as Equifax should not be allowed to break their trust of the data security of its customers with only a mild slap on the wrist. The outcome of this litigation should send a clear message to other similar companies to refrain from these activities.

Thank you Sir, for your time and consideration.

Eric Anholt

I have checked the settlement website and have confirmed I am a class member.

I object to this settlement, on the grounds its terms are:

- Unfair ☒ Unduly burdensome ☒
- Inadequate ☒
- Unreasonable ☐

I have objected to no class action settlements in the last five years.

I will not attend the settlement hearing in person.

I do not expect to be represented by an attorney.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

To even get the settlement, I had to sign up for a service that sends me spam emails for their commercial services on a weekly basis. This is absolutely unacceptable and worse than not having got a settlement.

I have objected to no class action settlements in the last five years.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

Equifax collected personal information about me without my consent and with no payment to me. It then monetized that information to any party that subscribed to its services without any amount of vetting. After decades of this activity, often disadvantaging me in my personal and professional life, Equifax's woeful security was breached and my personal information, along with 147,000,000 other Americans', was exposed to anyone interested. Afterward, I've spent significant time as well as money freezing my credit with all credit bureaus, having to unfreeze it at a cost with one or more agencies every time I've had to make a major purchase or subscribe to a new service. The same company was again breached recently because it left a website with client information, reachable to anyone on the internet, with an administrative login and password of admin / admin.

A $10 settlement is laughable for a company that is making millions to billions of dollars off of our personal data. We trusted them to keep our information secure, especially since they have so much of it, and we have virtually no control over them, and they did not. This caused all kinds of problems for people, some small, some serious. Thank you.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

This settlement does, by no means, reflect the harm done to the victims of this breach. This organization acted as judge and jury and obtained information by citizens who trusted that, at least, their personal information was safe. The financial intestines of its victims were handed up as if to someone on high, and a breach that is settled by a slap on the wrist is not equal to the danger their victims were subjected to. Please consider the victims and their plight in this case and render a satisfactory conclusion to the suit.

I have checked the settlement website and have confirmed I am a class member.

I object to this settlement, on the grounds its terms are:

- Unfair ☒ Unduly burdensome ☒
- Inadequate ☒
- Unreasonable ☒

I have objected to no class action settlements in the last five years.

I will not attend the settlement hearing in person.

I do not expect to be represented by an attorney.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

I feel that myself, as well as others, have been given a ridiculous response by the aforementioned "Equifax" settlement. The settlement was initially stated to range from $125 - $250. Now, for some unknown reason the company wants to settle for 'under $10 per individual'. This is ludicrous, unfair, inadequate and unreasonable!! Under what grounds are they basing their unreasonable, etc. decision on?

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

The time and cost to protect my own data, only to be compromised by a credit agency, is horrendous. The only thing more horrendous is less than a slap on the wrist for Equifax. If we are not able to trust Equifax's security for the safeguard of our highly sensitive data, why do they have such control over our credit scores? Equifax's attorneys have manipulated the justice system to the detriment of the American public. I strongly object to the proposed paltry amount.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

It seems like a classic bait and switch to me. They advertised that they would compensate and one monetary amount then once they saw people take action dropped the amount. Some of us ended up with things on our credit that has prevented us from being able to get jobs, reliable transportation, homes, or credit cards. It's not fair in anyway. You fight with the credit bureau and they side with the collectors who only have a " e-signature" no real proof that it was you. It's a big mess.

I have checked the settlement website and have confirmed I am a class member.

I object to this settlement, on the grounds its terms are:

- Unfair ☒ Unduly burdensome ☐
- Inadequate ☒
- Unreasonable ☐

I have objected to no class action settlements in the last five years.

I am unable to attend the settlement hearing in person.

I do not expect to be represented by an attorney.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

The amount proposed for settlement per person is ridiculous compared to the damage done and risks posed to people. A giant corporation like that cannot get away with this!

In re: Equifax Inc. Customer Data Security Breach Litigation

Case No. 1:17-md-2800-TWT

Lydia Truesdell

8305 Buffalo Ave. Apt F6, Niagara Falls, NY 14304

I have checked the settlement website and have confirmed I am a class member.

I object to this settlement, on the grounds its terms are:

- Unfair ☒ Unduly burdensome ☐
- Inadequate ☒
- Unreasonable ☒

I have objected to no class action settlements in the last five years.

I am unable to attend the settlement hearing in person.

I do not expect to be represented by an attorney.

Personal note to The Honorable Thomas W. Thrash Jr.

I will not accept a slap on the wrist for Equifax, a company that makes several billion dollars a year selling consumers data without their consent. Please do not allow this company to get away with only a slap on the wrist and make it clear to this company that they can't buy their way out of it with a bait-and-switch settlement offering for a mere fraction of the original settlement amount.
